

CALL FOR ART /Gift: Small works Show

The Three Sisters (T3S) gallery is committed to facilitating and promoting events with artists whose work demonstrates artistic integrity and cohesive presentation. We believe that this collaborative process will encourage artists' individual artistic development as well as provide for community exposure and sales opportunities. A gallery show has a responsibility to the artist(s) to ensure that the jury process is conducted professionally and employs the highest standards. A jury should give each artist applicant an equitable and equal chance for invitation. The optimal way to provide this equal chance is through a fair and knowledgeable jury and a clear understanding of how the jury operates.

Jury panelists rotate every three years, scoring occurs with a matrix, through printed/emailed material, jurors will review all applicants independently in advance, then discuss as a group at the same time. The number of spaces on the jury remains to be an odd number for voting purposes, selected and invited by Gallery owner, see National Association of Independent Artists (NAIA) standards for more details.
